Today I signed legislation to move forward on Best Starts for Kids, an initiative to put every child in King County on a positive trajectory

Underlying Principles

- Attention to disproportionality and multiculturalism is critical, and will be integral to how we focus investments.
- We will encourage innovative programs, built on the experiences of community partners and the needs and priorities of community residents.
- Investments in early childhood pose opportunities for multi-generational approaches, to capitalize on strengths within families and communities.
- We will build upon resilience and protective factors in children, youth and families across our County.
- We will emphasize promotion of positive development, relationships and community in addition to preventing negative outcomes and providing early interventions.
- Children and families will be connected with the resources and services they need.
